

THOMAS FRYLAND QUARTET another song
FEATURING JIM MCNEELY

Thomas Fryland Quartet

Feat. Jim McNeely

Another Song

Trumpeter Thomas Fryland began his career in 1993 with a sensational debut CD. Since then he has been very active on the Danish and Dutch jazz scenes. In 1998 he became a member of the acclaimed DR Big Band and one of the orchestra's foremost soloists. He has recorded several CDs in his own name and even more as a member of the big band.

He has now left the orchestra to concentrate on his own music. He has chosen to celebrate his independence with this charming release in collaboration with the famous American pianist and arranger Jim McNeely. McNeely has been a member of Stan Getz's, Chet Baker's, Art Farmer's and Phil Woods' groups, conducted the Thad Jones/Mel Lewis Orchestra and been the leader of the DR Big Band - which is where he met Thomas Fryland. McNeely's fluid piano style is a perfect match for Fryland's well-turned, brass-textured bebop. This is a genuine jazz record. Recorded in drummer Aage Tangaard's studio, the musical picture is completed by Jesper Lunggaard's luscious bass playing.
