The powerful trio Ibrahim Electric which consists of guitar player Niclas Knudsen, drummer Stefan Pasborg and the Hammond organ player Jeppe Tuxen, was in a generous mood when they played a 6 hour long concert at the venue Vega on the 6th of July 2016 with new versions of their music from their six studio releases. It is a selection from this marathon concert that is now available on a double album.

The leading crossover trio in the country, Ibrahim Electric, mixes imaginative and slightly irreverent music from all over the world, adds an enormous energy and then shows an utter joy of playing at every concert. The trios large audience freaks out over the outrageous merges played on busting drums, distorted acid guitar and with a cutting Hammond B3 spark. It is forceful it is entertaining it is insanely musical and it is highly original.

The trio, formed in 2002, have made venues all over the world uneasy with their anarchistic approach to genres such as Afro-beat, blues, funk, surf, jazz and rock. Genres of which, they effortlessly mix into an organic whole. The trio, which contains of three individuals, each of whom have made a name for himself with own projects and as sidemen, have played concerts at clubs and festivals in approximately 25 different countries on four different continents, from Shanghai to Vancouver, from Monte Carlo to Moscow and from Varanger to Casablanca. Ibrahim Electric masters the art of mesmerizing the audience in both short and concise 2-3 minutes sprints and in the great ecstatic long distance runs. Ibrahim Electric are spontaneous, tight, masterly, punk-like and not least tremendously happy just to be present....

“We did it! We survived! Our bodies didn’t collapse, nor physically neither mentally! Our instruments didn’t melt! AND the amazing audience survived too! Now we are pleased to release some handpicked tracks from that special evening at Vega – a souvenir to both ourselves but especially to the audience and to the many that couldn’t participate. We hope that the atmosphere and energy will propagate – because the music is for you!” Stefan, Niclas and Jeppe
